Did You Know?

- You must purchase a fishing license and a salmon stamp prior to fishing for salmon and/or finfish.
- It is your responsibility to know the regulations. Check for updates prior to fishing.
- Your fishing license must be on you at all times while fishing and transporting your catch
- When travelling with your sports caught fish you must be within 2 days procession limit
 - * 8 salmon (combined species of Pacific salmon)
 - * 2 halibut
 - * 2-4 ling cod (depending on area where caught)
- Your catch must remain identifiable for species and measurement. Do not dress or pack as to make the catch unidentifiable prior to arriving at this facility and proper paperwork can be filled out.
- It is illegal to sell sports caught fish
- To transport other people's sports caught fish you must carry a letter from that person with their signature stating your authorization to transport. Specific information must be included. A form can be found in the regulations booklet. Our staff can assist you with this.
- This facility will not accept any filleted fish for custom smoking
- If travelling by plane, specific criteria must be followed, or risk the package not being allowed on the plane:
 - * All fish must be vacuum packed
 - * Gel packs only for coolant
 - * Absolutely no loose ice
 - * Styrofoam coolers placed into protective waxed cardboard outers result in your package becoming "airline approved" and allow the package to be checked in with your luggage
- When travelling to the European Union, whether as a visitor or a citizen you cannot bring more than 20KG of seafood products or one whole salmon if weighing more than 20KG itself. Failure to comply with this will result in the seafood being taken from you any costs incurred to dispose of the seafood will be passed onto you and heavy fines may also be incurred.
- By bringing your sports caught fish to this facility, once all the incoming weights, counts and species have been recorded, this facility can portion, skin, smoke, and render your catch unidentifiable. Still keeping you within the legal guidelines for transportation, etc. Provided once you travel you have incoming fish slips from this facility to correspond with what you are transporting.
